Residents have been asking what they should do about Fly Tipping, below is some advice/guidance;

Fly tipping is the common term used to describe waste that has been illegally deposited causing damage to the environment, costing businesses, landowners and tax payers millions every year

Householder's responsibility:

Householders are required by law to check that anyone removing waste from their property are authorised to do so. Check waste carriers are a genuine and hold a waste carriers licence

To check your waste carrier is holds a legitimate waste carriers licence contact Environment Agency on: 03708 506506 or on line at <http://epr.environment-agency.gov.uk/ePRIInternet/SearchRegisters.aspx>

Most large skip companies will display their waste carrier licence number in the windscreen of their vehicle.

If they are not registered, residents should refuse their service.

If they claim to be registered but do not have any paperwork, residents can telephone the Environment Agency on 03708 506506 and request an instant Waste Carrier Validation

Record the registration number of any vehicle removing waste from your home

Pay by cheque as payments can be traced if the waste is fly tipped. If they insist on cash refuse their service and request a receipt for their service.

Reporting Fly tipping:

Where house hold waste has been dumped (fly tipped) on adopted highway:

Residents should contact their local authority / Borough Council who will arrange for its removal.

Where house hold waste has been dumped (fly tipped) private land:

The land owner would be responsible for its removal by a licensed waste carrier.

Council's can fine householders that hire a company to take materials away from their house that end up fly tipped

Vicar's Letter

Dear Friends

I used to sing in a barbershop quartet which was great fun, but some of the songs we sang by today's standards would have been quite non-PC. One that comes to mind is a version of the nursery rhyme "Simple Simon" - as a piece it was not simple. It was made up of a pastiche of various different musical genres such as Opera and Anglican chant it came to my mind because I have to take a school assembly where the value or theme is simplicity. The challenge for me on reflecting about this value of simplicity is that life is not simple certainly not in the sense of being easy or straightforward.

I'm writing this after the result of the general election and the results appear complicated though, by the time you read this, some of those difficult decisions may have been resolved. It is also Trinity Sunday, which for a lot of people, complicates the uniqueness of the one true God.

So in this complicated and varied life we live, can we approach it with a simple philosophy?

When Jesus was asked what is the greatest commandment; his reply was very focused and specific: love. Love has an infinite ways of expressing itself and Jesus did distinguish between loving God, loving our neighbour, loving one another and even loving our enemies, but effectively his and the Christian message is one about love.

Yes, it is hard to accept that God loves us when we have experienced life's harshness and disappointments. But it is love that helps us get through those times.

So can I encourage you to express that love, perhaps in praying for our country and our leaders, for protection and guidance; or in care and support for your neighbours; perhaps by trying to understand those you find difficult or who oppose you; or indeed by challenging the assumptions that may not be loving.

Going back to Simple Simon his folly, according to the nursery rhyme was expecting something for free. Yet that is exactly what love and especially God's love is all about, giving freely. As Jesus said "...freely you have received, freely give."

It is as simple as that, yet so hard to do and that is why we need God's love to help us.

John

Dog Control.

We live next to the canal footpath and have chickens and ducks. We have sheep fencing running along two fields adjoining the footpath so dogs cannot get directly through. However, we have in the last couple of months had several dogs coming in from two fields away and attacking the chickens. Yesterday afternoon was our worst 25 were killed and 4 ducks which is over half our stock, sadly among these were several of our children's pets. I have put the below on Facebook, the owner has been found and lives in East Challow. We have been informed by the police that if a dog is worrying or killing our livestock we are allowed to shoot it. We would rather this did not have to happen and would prefer prevention and really appreciate people controlling their dogs.

I have added a picture below of what this dog had done. It had killed 25 of our chickens and 4 ducks, many of these were children's pets. Several chickens were so wounded we had to put them out of their misery. We have recently had several dogs getting in from the footpath TWO FIELDS away. If you have a dog you are obliged to keep it under control or secure in the garden. I do not want to try and comfort two distraught children again. We are allowed to protect our live stock and will do so.

PLEASE BE AWARE OF WHERE YOUR DOGS ARE AT ALL TIMES!

The Oxfordshire Historic Churches Trust (OHCT) helps maintain the county's historic church buildings in two ways - by providing Grants for needy repairs and more recently supporting reordering projects to help make churches more useable for community activities, but it relies on donations from the public for most of its income. You can help raise funds for both the OHCT and for our own Parish by taking part in the sponsored Ride and Stride on 9th Sept. By pre-agreement you can split part of your sponsorship with another community organisation - for more information please contact Hilary [868590 or hilarycake-breadhall@gmail.com]. Or

St Nicholas Church, East Challow

An update on Church Alterations: Toilet, Entrance and Served

The aim of the project is to make the church more welcoming, accessible and more usable for a wider range of church and village activities by sensitively introducing some modern facilities and making the building more compatible with the needs and expectations of the 21st century.

This involves providing a toilet suitable for disabled people, reorganising the entrance area, adding some basic catering facilities, and making the external access more disabled friendly with the path ramped up to the entrance. It will also create easier access and better space inside for push-chairs etc and be more user - friendly for large gatherings at weddings, funerals etc.

We have detailed plans and costings and a budget figure of approx. £50,000

Although we will do some parts of the work ourselves and we hope to raise some of the total from grants, there is still an urgent need for substantial direct giving, and fund raising. Any gifts, ideas or offers of help gratefully received. (Contact details on the front cover or to the editors.)

As of June 2017 the reordering account now stands at £18,129.00 which includes Gift Aid recovery and £6,000.00 grant from Oxfordshire Historic Churches Trust

The aim is to make the church building fit for disabled access and for a wider range of use by the community e.g to be able to extend our work with children.

Do you have any ideas of what you would like to see happening?
What does our community need from the church?

Reply to the editors please.

Rev Alfred John Wright

19th March 1922 to 1st May 2017

A Requiem Mass for Rev Alfred John Wright was held at St Nicholas Church, East Challow on Friday 19th May, followed by a private cremation. Father John was the Vicar of East Challow and a Chaplain at the Convent of St Mary the Virgin for more than 20 years until his retirement in 1991. He is remembered with great love and appreciation by many of us in the parish who benefited so greatly from his caring and spiritual ministry. He was a humble man of great faith, deep spirituality, great warmth and generosity of heart. He loved his parish ministry and his role at the convent; and had a particular affinity for the underdog.

Father John was born in 1922 in Norfolk, and he remained proud of his humble rural origins in Norfolk. He left school at 15 and went to work at Holkham Hall, the family home of the Earls of Leicester. As a teenager he started worshipping and serving at Walsingham, where Father Hope Patten recognised his vocation for the priesthood. But it was some 30 years later before he was accepted for ordination: a testament to his perseverance and dedication.

He met his wife-to-be Barbara when posted with the RAF in Germany at the end of the war, after service in the North Africa and Italy. When married they moved to New Mills in the Peak District where Father John worked for the Calico Printers Association. Here he became a Reader in the Church of England and he and Barbara started their lifelong interest in making church vestments. He was particularly proud of the commissions they received from some of the African Bishops. Father John moved to Caversham, near Reading, to work for Dr Barnardo's. From there his calling to the Priesthood was finally fulfilled when he was offered a Curacy at St John's, Newbury. However, this meant a 50 week full-time course at Wycliffe Hall in Oxford. The Evangelical emphasis of Wycliffe Hall was in marked contrast to the more traditional style of worship that he loved and that marked his ministry from those early days at Walsingham. It was a challenging period in which he had little time to see his young family. He moved from Newbury to East Challow as Vicar after his daughter had finished her Secondary education. At East Challow he and Barbara continued to make vestments, and many of those still in regular use at St Nicholas were made by them. This is an inheritance that we are pleased and fortunate to have.

In his retirement he continued to say Mass at St Katherine's House for a number of years, and pursued his interest in watercolours; especially painting scenes of the Norfolk coast. He was very proud of his family, Judy and Nick, and his grandsons and great grandchildren. His sense of humour, great warmth and spiritual example will be missed by us all.

Adapted from the Eulogy written by his daughter Judy Longworth for his funeral.
